TIGER TRACK SQUAD OVERCOMES OTHER STATE TEAMS IN BRILLIANT VICTORY

Tigers Take 14 Out Of Possible 15
First Places—Entire Team Stars
—Roy Breaks State Record—Hall
Is High Point Man—Furman
Comes Second; Carolina Is Third

The swiftly gliding Tiger of Clemson on Saturday proved himself the fastest of the many beasts who inhabit the jungles of the Palmetto State. Pitting his prowess at running against the speed of the other animals of the state, and also pitting his strength in the field events, the mighty beast, fresh from his lair at Clemson, won the state track meet in a walk-away. In fourteen of the fifteen events the Jungaleer took first place, and in addition he captured many of the minor places. The other animals waged a mighty fight to see who would be runner-up to the winners, who made 89 points, more than the rest of the field put together. The Furman Hornet won the second position with 22 points the Carolina Gamecock placing third with 20, the Citadel Bulldog fourth with 15½, the Presbyterian College Bluestocking fifth with 4, and the Wofford Terrier last with 1½.

Wallace Roy, the Tiger star who has only begun to shine this season, but whose place in the firmament of track men is already firmly fixed, running in his home town, set a

ANNUAL DANCE IS SPLENDID SUCCESS

Annual Hop Surpasses Fondest Expectations—Good Music And Pretty Girls Galore—Cooperation of Faculty Makes Dance Success

The annual Junior-Senior Dance was given Friday night in the "big gym" just after the Junior-Senior Banquet, by the Junior and the Senior Dancing Clubs. About seventy-five beautiful girls were visitors here for the dance, and the orchestra from the University of Georgia, calling themselves "The Bulldogs," certainly lived up to their name, because the Jazz music that they put out was certainly full-blooded Jazz with a pedigree worth a million dollars.

No better selection of beautiful girls could have been picked from this part of the country than the fair maidens who presented themselves in their pretty frocks on the floor of the dance hall. Every boy had "The Sweetest Girl in the World" up for the dance, and each appeared to well deserve the title.

The "big gym" was decorated the best that it has been this year, and many favorable comments were heard from all sides. The decorating committee was composed of the following men: E. G. Dotterer,

TIGER NETMEN DISPLAY FORM IN MEET

Fitzgerald And Sanftleben Uphold
Standards Of Tigertown—Tournament
Uncovers Many Stars—Local Squad Reaches Semi-Finals In Double Play

The annual South Carolina Tennis Tournament was held this year at the University of South Carolina. Teams from every male college in the state, with the exception of the College of Charleston, were present, and a high standard of tennis was displayed by each team.

The preliminaries were run off Monday afternoon, Fitzgerald and Sanftleben being the Tiger entrants. Fitzgerald went up against Lesene of Wofford, and Sanftleben met Childs, also of Wofford. After two hard matches, Childs and Lesene won out, but not until each had realized that they had met two hard and worthy opponents. Both Childs and Lesene went through to the finals, Childs winning after a hard struggle, so when one realizes that these two men are the two best college players in the state, defeat at their hands does not seem so bad.

The singles preliminaries Monday afternoon resulted in the following eliminations: Wilson of Carolina defeated Kirkley of P. C., 6-3, 6-3; Hunter of Erskine defeated Glenn of Citadel, 10-8, 6-0. Childs of Wofford defeated Sanftleben of Clemson, 6-3, 6-1. Lesene of Wofford defeated Fitzgerald of Clemson, 6-3, 6-1. Grier of Erskine defeated Singleton of Carolina, 6-0, 6-2. Clotfelder of P. C. defeated Allen of Citadel, 4-6, 8-6, 6-3. Hewell and Conner, both of Furman, drew byes.

In the second round of the preliminaries Hewell of Furman defeated Wilson of Carolina 7-5, 7-5. Cannon of Furman defeated Grier of Erskine 11-9, 2-6, 6-2. Childs of Wofford defeated Hunter of Erskine 6-4, 3-2. Lesene of Wofford defeated Clotfelder of P. C. 4-6, 6-0, 7-5.

In the semi-finals, Childs of Wofford defeated Hewell of Furman 9-7, 3-6, 6-3; and Lesene of Wofford defeated Conner of Furman 7-6, 6-0, 7-5.

Wednesday morning Mr. Childs reached the height of his ambition when he defeated Mr. Lesene, thereby winning the state championship. Childs received a gold tennis ball, and Lesene, the runner-up received a silver ball.

In the doubles Wofford drew a bye on the first round. Hewell and Conner of Furman defeated Wilson and Fishburne of Carolina 7-5, 6-0. Hunter and Grier of Erskine lost to Fitzgerald and Sanftleben of Clemson 4-6, 8-6, 6-2. McLaurin and

FURMAN ANNEXES GAME FROM TIGERS

Tiger Squad Leads For Several Innings—Minnick Driven From
Box; Drummond Fares Better—Pretty Fielding Featured The Game—Cox Leads Hitters With Two Safeties

Getting off to a three-run lead in the first inning by staging a batting bee at the expense of Minnick, Clemson bid fair to defeat Furman on Riggs Field Saturday. But the Tigers were unable to score after Drummond took the mound for the visitors, and Furman made timely hitting in the fifth, sixth, and ninth innings count for enough runs to win from the Tigers 7 to 3.

In the first frame Strickland led off for Clemson with a single. Melton hit to the pitcher and was safe at first when Strickland was thrown out at second. Salley singled, and then George Cox drove in both Melton and Salley with a long three-bagger to the left portion of center field. George went out a moment later trying to come home, but Bill Murr hit a fly to left field. Three Furman men went after the ball, but they ran together and missed it, the ball rolling under the bleachers, where it could not be secured by the visiting fielders. Bill consequently circled all the way around the circuit and scored on the play.

CLEMSON NINE WINS LAST HOME GAME

Tiger Nine Closes Home Season With Victory Over Erskine—Pat Harmon
Hurles well—Zeigler Hits
Heavy—Murr Drives out Three-Bagger.

On Monday afternoon the Tiger's lair was invaded by the fast Erskine nine—but of no avail. All of the efforts of the Erskinites were in vain, for the Tigers won very decisively by a score of 4 to 1. This game closed the home season of the varsity.

From the very first inning "Pat" Harmon had them at his mercy. He let them have only two hits during the entire game. The combination of Harmon's pitching and the fielding of the team held the lads of Due West to one run only.

When it came to using the willow, the Tigers were the better. They got a total of nine hits. "Bob" Zeigler got three hits out of four times up. "Doc" Melton and "Bill" Murr came next with two hits each. Murr parked one up the right field bank for three-sacks in the first.

The Tigers scored in the first inning, in the second, and again in the eighth.

CUBS WIN FAST GAME FROM ERSKINE

Fast Brand of Ball Displayed By Cubs As They Defeat Erskine—
Elms and Hartzog Pitch Well—Jeter Hits Two out of Three Attempts.

Clemson's Freshman nine defeated the Erskine "Rats" last Thursday in the fastest and best played game seen on Riggs Field this year. The score was 2 to 0, both of the Tiger Cubs' runs being made in the third inning.

Elms took the mound for Clemson and pitched beautiful ball for four and two-thirds innings, allowing only one hit, and fanning six batters. Something went wrong with his good right arm in the fifth, and he moved to left field, Henry Hartzog taking up the burden of the hurling. He allowed only two hits in four and a third innings.

The runs came in the third when "Runt" Herron and "Shine" Milling got infield hits, and Gus Jeter hit to left field which drove them in. Gus incidentally was the heavy hitter of the day with two hits out of three trips to the plate.

An occasion of wide social interest thru-out the state of South Carolina was the recent Junior-Senior celebration held at Clemson College on Friday evening, May 2. For many months this affair has been looked forward to with the keenest expectations, and now that it has taken its place in the pages of social history, its enjoyment is still fresh in the hearts and minds of those who partook of the festivities involved. So bright was the incandescent expectancy of this time of times, that even now, its after glow is shining thru the social realm of the Palmetto state.

In glancing back at this celebration, let us not be blinded by its brightness to such an extent as to obscure the real motive involved. The members of the present Senior class are soon to depart from our midst, never to return in their present capacities. In order that the up-coming senior might in some

BASEBALL SQUAD TO MAKE STATE TRIP

Baseballers Leave On Last Trip—
Erskine, P. C., Newberry, Carolina
And Citadel To Be Played—Rats
Have Three Home Games

Having dropped the curtain on their home season with a victory over the Erskine Seceders, the Clemson baseball nine departs this week on its longest road trip of the year, and on Monday will play the last game of the year in Anderson.

The squad leaves the Tiger lair Wednesday morning, and on Wednesday afternoon will play Erskine at Due West. The next day they move on for a game with Presbyterian College to be played either in Clinton or Laurens, probably Laurens. On Friday the stop is at Newberry for a game with the Newberry Indians, and the farthest point of the trip is reached in Columbia when Carolina will be played on Saturday. Turning back towards Tigertown, the team will finish the 1924 season in Anderson on Monday with Citadel furnishing the opposition.

Despite the loss of many games up to date, the season has not been an entirely bad one, and the winning of a majority of the five remaining (Continued on Page Three.)

OAK RIDGE HITS HARD AND OFTEN

Oak Ridge Sends Classy Team—Visitors Hit Hard And Take Advantage Of Errors—Jeter, Bethea, And Hendee Hit Best For Rats

Oak Ridge Military Institute sent an expert, experienced ball club to Clemson last Tuesday to do battle with the Clemson Freshmen, and the visitors, by combining hard hitting with numerous Tiger Cubs miscues, won by the score of 10 to 2.

The visitors hammered out ten hits, five of them extra-base. The total bases of the hit were eighteen, accounted for by five singles, three doubles, a triple, and a home-run. Ross with two doubles, and Smith with a triple and a single were the heaviest hitters for Oak Ridge.

Jeter got a three-base knock for the home team, while Bethea got two hits out of three at-bats and "Tick" Hendee got two out of four. Score by innings:

WHO RUNS BLUE RIDGE

"Say, Jimmie, where do they get all these good looking girls to serve these meals here at Blue Ridge?"

"Why, Ebe, they are from Agnes Scott, Brenau, Shorter, Winthrop and dozens of other schools all over the south."

"You don't mean it!" exclaimed Ebe.

"Yes I do, and what's more all these boys you see around here as bell hops, trunk smashers, barbers, postmasters, clerks and everything are college men. They come from the southern schools; three of them are from Emory," replied Jimmie.

"Well they must pay them some price to get them to work like this," said Ebe.

"On the other hand they just pay their expenses and they have to turn away hundreds of applicants each year. You see these boys and girls, about 125 of them, are here with a serious purpose. Every one of them is taking work in the summer school. They work hard for the privilege of being here at Blue Ridge. They do everything from keeping the grass cut to serving the meals in the dining hall. They run the steam laundry, the garage, the store, the hotel, the pressing club, post office, and everything else. And they have the best time of any folks here. If you don't believe it talk to one of them."

COACH REED

The success of the Tiger Track Team this season has been largely due to the hard work and splendid spirit of "The Little Man." With this year's experience Coach Reed should be able to produce an All-Southern combination next spring.

CAPTAIN WOOD

Thruout the entire Track season "Clagett" has been a leader who inspired his men to their very best. He has been a varsity man for four years; this last season found him in his prime. Holder of the Clemson record on the half-mile and member of an All-American Relay Team, "Clagett" may well be proud of his Track career at Clemson.

CLEMSON COLLEGE

Red-brown roadway, encompassed by the red and green hills of the Carolinas, stretching away mile after mile thru a country dotted with busy manufactories, winding thru the smart little marts of trade whose paved streets and gleaming homes and emerald lawns proclaim prosperity.

Mile after mile the long way stretches, through Gastonia, Kings Mountain, battleground hallowed by the blood and heroism of our ancestors. Thru Cowpens, where the Redcoats paid the price of defeat to the gallant soldiers led by Pickens; past Spartanburg and Greenville, and into the rich red fields of Pickens County; and one comes to a college nestling in the hills whose natural beauty of location is enhanced by the art and industry of the men who have made it the mecca of those who seek after scientific and agricultural knowledge—Clemson College, South Carolina, the ancestral home of John C. Calhoun.

There one visits Calhoun's home, and sees the haircloth sofa given to the distinguished South Carolinian by George Washington, on which are the spreading eagles copied on the American dollar of today; sits in the chair given to Calhoun by King Leopold, of Belgium, whose bust is carved on each arm; and sees the banquet table that groaned beneath the sumptuous repasts that Calhoun served to his neighbors and his guests.

Clemson College in the spring is a beautiful place, busy with the teeming life and activities of a thousand stalwart youngsters. High on the several hills that sit like watchmen round about, the splendid buildings of the college contain experiment station and lecture halls where young men are learning the oldest trade on earth, to reproduce the necessities of life. Out yonder, where the green of orchard and field crops gleam, are busy toilers whose daily duty is the propagation of seed and cure for the ills that beset the food crops of a Nation. Back behind the college is the great herd of fine cattle, where dairying is taught as a fine art. Science, radio, engineering and the splendid science of military tactics, taught by officers of the United States Army, compose part of a curriculum that is fostered and furnished by the State of South Carolina and the Nation.

Clemson College at all times is a beautiful, cleanly, orderly, well kept place. But Clemson College in the Spring, when the thoughts of the splendid youngsters in training there turn lightly to love; when pretty dresses gaily flutter about the campus and the shady walks and driveways—then, indeed is Clemson College a joy and delight to the visitor who has driven the long miles through the Piedmont to rest for a day or two in the cool sprightliness of its hills, and enjoy the warm, real Southern hospitality of one's hosts.—Charlotte Observer.

THE BOARD OF VISITORS HERE THIS WEEK

Each year the Trustees appoint one citizen from each congressional district of the state to visit the college on the first Wednesday in May, for the purpose of making a rigid and impartial inquiry into its condition and workings. The seven citizens are known as "The Board of Visitors," and while here are carried on an inspection trip to all parts of the institution. This Board makes a report of its findings to the Board of Trustees at the regular June meeting.

It is the policy of the Trustees to select representative citizens each year from the various districts, and from the list of names below it appears that a very able Board has been selected for 1924.

The visit of this Board is of great importance to the college and it is the idea of the Trustees and the college authorities that they shall see the institution at work as it is.

The list of the 1924 Board of Visitors is as follows:

1st District—Dr. A. R. Johnston, St. George
2nd District—E. A. Brown, Barnwell.
3rd District—J. Wade Drake, Anderson.
4th District—John Gordon Hughes, Union
5th District—R. S. Stewart, Lancaster.
6th District—S. S. Tison, Bennettsville.
7th District—Dr. T. H. Dreher, St. Matthews.

The program makes it a busy twenty-four hours for the gentlemen who visit the college, but this is necessary in order that they may see at least a small part of what is going on about the campus.

Program of Inspection

NEW "Y" CABINET IS ELECTED FOR 1924

Capable Men Are Chosen For Various Positions—Y. M. C. A. Activities To Be Further Developed Next Year—Every Man Pledges Hard Work.

Choosing men to fill certain positions is a rather difficult task sometimes when there are so many good men from which to pick. But as there is a limited number of men that can be elected, some good men have to be left out.

This year we decided to follow over last year's plan and have only chairmen of the various committees on the cabinet. We hope that the men who have been selected as chairmen will do their best to make the committees function as they should. As the Y. M. C. A. is a Christian Association the men who hold positions on it should be Christians, and be willing to do everything in their power to make Christ more real to his fellowmen. Before anyone can exert any influence for Christ on his fellowmen he has to first live a Christian life himself.

The officers elected by the student body several weeks ago were as follows: President, B. W. Freeland, Vice President, T. J. Hart, and Recording secretary, S. W. Henry. Freeland, as President, is also Chairman of the Conference Committee. Freeland has been a member of the Cabinet for the past two years and has been a very active member. Never was there anything to do at the Y. but what Freeland was willing to do his part. He is a Christian and is not afraid to stand up for what he thinks is right.

To succeed Brissie as Chairman of Bible Classes R. H. Smith has been elected. Besides being on the "Y" Cabinet, Smith sometimes called "Poet," is Editor-in-Chief of the Chronicle for next year. He went to Blue Ridge last year and he says that if anyone has any bad habits that he is trying to get rid of and is finding it hard to do so, then Blue Ridge is the place to lose them. Smith has been leading a Morning Watch group on his hall this year and has been very successful in getting the boys to attend.

F. B. Leitzey was elected Chairman of the New Students Committee. Although Fred loves to have a little fun with the new boys sometimes, he is just the man for the place. We hope he will give the Freshmen a warm reception next September and will help them in getting started off right. Fred is a member of the football squad and an outstanding member of the Glee Club. He is also on the Tiger and the Chronicle staff for next year. He is held very highly in the esteem of his fellow students, and we hope that his influence for good will be largely felt on the campus.

As Chairman of Missions, G. E. Hawkins was elected. Ben Martin tried to get rid of Hawkins by turning the car over with him last week, but he didn't succeed; so Hawkins is right here to make us a good Chairman next year. Hawkins has been leading the Bible Class in barracks this year, and has been a regular attendant of Vesper Services and Evening Watch.

L. B. Blakeney was elected Chairman of the Social Committee. We hope that Blakeney will keep the Cabinet well fed on good things to eat next year. Blakeney has been a very active member of the "Y" and well deserves a place on the cabinet. He is also a hurdler on the track squad.

As Chairman of the Membership Committee the Cabinet selected Longley. "Juke" has shown that he is in thorough sympathy with the work done by the "Y". He is very greatly admired by every one who knows him at all. He is on the Taps Staff and is Business Manager of the Tiger for next year.

Wells was elected Chairman of the Morning Watch Committee. The number of men attending morning Watch has been very greatly increased this year over last year. We hope that Sam will do as much as is in his power to increase the number as much next year as it has been increased this year. He is a Christian and a very active member of the "Y".

E. M. Salley as Chairman of Church Relationships is a very good man for the place. "Mac" is a member of the Glee Club, and it matters not where he goes he never fails to add a few more friends to his list.

These are the men who are to head the activities of the "Y" next year. It is hoped that they will do everything in their power to make the Association mean more to the students next year.

ARABS STOP PICTURE TO PRAY TO ALLAH

Director Edwin Carewe used thousands of Arabs in his film version of "A Son of the Sahara," which he produced in Algeria, and he found them easy to handle for the most part. The only real trouble he encountered with them was due to their religious fervor, most of the natives being devout Mohammedans and likely to pray at any moment. More than once in the midst of a scene, according to Mr. Carewe, one or more of the Arabs would feel the praying urge come upon them, get down on the knees and salaam. ## ADOLPHE MENJOU IS

CORNELL GRADUATE

The majority of university trained men appearing in motion pictures have entered the silent drama through some strange turn of fate in spite of the fact that they were educated to be doctors, lawyers, engineers or something of the sort. Not so, however, with Adolphe Menjou, the clever "heavy" who portrays "Paul Mayne" in Thomas H. Ince's "The Marriage Cheat." Menjou, while attending Cornell University, became interested in dramatics above everything else and on graduating spent one year on the legitimate stage. In 1914 he entered motion picture work with a determination to achieve a big success. Only now, after ten years' conscientious effort, is that ambition being realized.

The Marriage Cheat

Corinne Griffith and Conway Tearle are co-featured in "Lilies of the Field," and they duplicate the "hit" they registered in "Black Oxen," another First National success. This talented pair of stars are being hailed far and wide as "the screen's ideal lovers," and their work in "Black Oxen" inspired many thousands of fans to write to the producers, pleading that both be included in future productions. Their appearance in "Lilies of the Field" is a direct answer to that plea from the public.

LITTLE HORNETS DEFEAT TIGER SQUAD

Furman Rats Destroy Tiger Cub's Championship Hopes—Game Is Marked By Heavy Hitting—Errors Contribute To Rat's Downfall

Last Saturday, May 3rd, the young "Hornets" stung the Tiger Cubs for seventeen genuine "stings" to the Cubs six "clawing scratches." The defeat was a big set-back to the Clemson Freshman because their victory over the Newberry "Rats" had put them in line for the state championship.

Elms, who usually pitches an excellent game could not keep the Furman batters under his control, hence Hartzog took his place but with very little effect. The Cubs kept pace with the Furman "Rats" in the last four innings but "alas" it was too late.

DANCE TO BE GIVEN IN ANDERSON

"Jungleers" To Furnish Music For The Dance—All Clemson Men Are Invited To Attend—Plans Should Be Made For Escorting Some Fair Lady

All lovers of the Terpsichorean Art are looking forward with keen anticipation to the dance at the Elks Club in Anderson on Saturday May, 10. Dancing will be from 8:30 'til 12:00 and Clemson's own Orchestra, "The Jungleers" will furnish music for the occasion.

Many of the Cadets are planning to go over for this dance, and right now, how does this suggestion strike you, fellows? Don't "stag" that dance. Call up "your girl" in Anderson and make a date with her for the dance.

They'll appreciate it, and those boys who are in the habit of spending their week ends in Anderson know that this is as little as we can do for them. You know that the Anderson girls and their mothers have been tireless in their efforts to have something doing practically every Saturday evening, and this is done principally for Clemson boys. We can show in this way a small part of the appreciation we feel for the many courtesies extended to us while on those incomparable week-ends in Anderson.

The dance is certain to be good. When we consider the fact that Anderson's girls and Clemson's music will be there, there is no doubt at all in our minds of that fact. The girls of Anderson, as you know, are nothing less than perfect dancers. In fact there are few towns in this State that can boast of so many good dancers. As for the music, we all know that the "jazz" of "The Jungleers" is of the very highest order.

Let's all plan to go over and have a good time. You just can't afford to miss it, and don't forget the time and date—Saturday, May 10, at 8:30.

MOTHER'S DAY

One day of each year is set aside for the observance of "Mother's Day." This is a beautiful custom, yet it is only a small part of the debt we owe to those gracious souls who gladly give their all in a desire to rear clean, honest men. It has often been said that the hand that rocks the cradle is the hand that rules the world. No truer words could be spoken. The ideas, the instincts that a mother plants in her son are carried with him in every turn of his life, even after he has gone out from his mother's care. Every true mother lives up to this task of starting her son safely thru life by sacrificing her own pleasure, even to the extent of giving her life that her son will be a better man. Then, is it not fitting that we should pay homage to our Mother, so that we may repay her for her efforts? Is it not fitting that we should do all in our power to make her feel she has not worked in vain?

Sunday, May 11, is Mother's Day. Make plans to write your mother a special letter on this day. Send her a word of cheer, and let pleasure come into her life by knowing that she is appreciated and honored by her son. If your mother has made the supreme sacrifice and has passed on to that Higher Home, then worship her memory by the wearing of the white rose of purity. All that you may do toward making dear the life or the memory of your mother will be cornerstones in your structure of character. It is your duty, your privilege, and your honor to pay respects to the greatest person on earth—your Mother.

Dr. Riggs had planned to have the following poem printed and presented to each Clemson student on Mother's Day. In accordance with this wish, we are publishing the poem in the Tiger. It is our earnest hope that the observance of this day may add some happiness to our living mothers, and at the same time be a fitting remembrance to those who have gone before.

I'LL WEAR A WHITE

FLOWER FOR YOU

Mother dear, I've been thinking much of you today,
And of all you have done for me:
And how little for my part I have done in return for your wonderful love so free.
As a token of my gratitude, For your constant, tender care,
This flower white upon my heart for you I'll wear.

'Tis an emblem, dear Mother, and it speaks of you,
In a language of mystic lore;
Its clear whiteness a symbol of your own purity,
And its grace of the form you wore;
While its fragrance breathes loving sacrifice,
Faithful service, rich and rare,
And so this flow'r upon my heart for you I'll wear.

When the toils of the earth life, Mother dear, are o'er,
With its sad, bitter, parting tears,
We shall meet over yonder in that bright better world,
Free from troubles and haunting fears;
In that ever sunny Summerland, amid Eden's bowers fair,
Upon my heart a fadeless flow'r for you I'll wear.

I'll wear a white flower for you, Mother dear,
The best friend that ever I knew. Mother dear,
So gentle, so loving, so tender, so true;
I'll wear a white flower for you.

PROCRASTINATION

The waste of valuable time and the continual delaying of duties is one of the worst faults that any man, especially a college man, could have. This bad habit is one that we are all heir to and is one that we should try to overcome.

With the number of notes that we take in class that have to be written up and handed in it is necessary, if we wish to do this in a scholarly manner, that we keep up with this part of our work. When notes are given or experiments are to be performed, do this as soon as possible so that the material will be fresh in your mind.

Do not delay your duties. If you have work to be done, do it as soon as possible and get it over with. It must be done some time and there is no time like the present to perform your duties. When you put off your work you only increase the amount that has to be done at the last minute. No work can be done thoroughly if it is done hurriedly.

Keep up with work each day as it comes. When you go to bed at night, go with the feeling that you have completed all that was assigned to you during the day. You can sleep better and feel better, knowing that you are up with the world. Your work will seem to come easier if you get it as it comes and don't put it all off until the last minute.

Don't procrastinate if you wish to keep up with your work in an efficient manner, and wish to save time. By keeping up with your work and performing the task each day as they come up you will have a sense of doing your duty well. Cultivate the habit of not putting off your work but doing each day's work in that day.

"KEEPING ON"

How easy it is sometimes for us to give up when things are not running just as we would like. But will we ever get anywhere by doing that way? It is the nature of the human race to take the line of least resistance.

If we did not have to overcome some difficulties and have to stand some hard knocks, then life would not be worth the living. It is not the man that has the easy road to travel who enjoys life, but it is the man who has to work for what he gets who wears the smile most of the time. A boy who has to work his way through school and account for every cent that he spends values his diploma a great deal more than the boy who goes through having an easy time.

How easy it would be for a runner when he has run about three fourths of his race, or a football player after he has played hard for about thirty minutes, or a baseball pitcher after he has pitched hard for about six innings to just give up and quit. But would a game or a race ever be won like that? Not if everyone gave up when he felt like it. It is the same way in the game of life. We will never win out if we give up when the prospects are against us. In writing experiments, or working out equations we are prone to give up when things don't run out just as we would like for them to. We also do this in studying our theoretical lessons. We can't concentrate, and it seems as if we will never get to the end of the lesson; so we just throw the book on the table and say, "I just can't learn that lesson."

Now that the end of school is about here there will be a tendency for us to let up in our studies and say that we cannot concentrate, and that there is no use to study these last few weeks, but this is the time to get down to work and make the last few days count. We have gone good so far. Let's keep it up until the end.

MENTAL HONORS

Intelligence is, after all, not a lost art as is shown by the following article taken from a daily newspaper. It is pleasing to note that victories other than athletic ones may be a cause of joy and celebration.

The dignified Erskine professor who got up at midnight, went to the students' dormitory and initiated, led, and was the central figure in a celebration over Erskine's victory at the state oratorical contest, caused a lot more comment among the students than the victory itself, it appears, and the incident may lead some to suspect that there might have been little or no celebration at all if the professor hadn't started it himself.

Yet a similar victory in athletic circles would have been the cause for quite a demonstration; and very properly, of course, yet one wonders why our students and their alumni as well have gotten so into the habit of literally tearing their shirts over an athletic victory while a mental conquest gets more or less silent admiration.

Athletics are great; there's no intention to discount them in the least. They build substantial manhood, create a splendid college spirit and advertise the institution as well; may they live long and always be an important part in our college life. Yet at the same time one can't help but remember that few college graduates hire themselves out to play football when they finally get their sheepskins, and that after that event takes place their value to the world is mostly measured from the neck up.

A little more enthusiasm among our college students over mental victories and achievements would probably give a little better balance to the tomb of our college activities, for after all, these institutions are really expected to turn out minds trained for sound, consistent and constructive thought, and a capable mind is quite as important, at least, as an agile body.

TIGER NETMEN DIS- PLAY FORM IN MEET

Fuller of P. C. defeated Glenn and Hause of Citadel 10-8, 4-6, 6-2.

Tuesday in the semi-finals Hewell and Conner of Furman defeated Fitzgerald and Sanfleben of Clemson 6-1, 6-1. Lesene and Childs of Wofford defeated McLaurin and Fuller of P. C. 6-0, 6-2.

After a hard struggle Wednesday morning Furman succeeded in winning out over the Wofford doubles team, winning three out of five sets.

The meet this year was one of the best ever held in this state, and the brand of play put up by the contestants was well worth the praise which they received. Our heartiest congratulations go out to the winners, Childs in the singles and Hewell and Conner in the doubles.

CLUB WORK HELPS

Benefits Boys, Parents, County Agents, and Community

"I think club work is a good thing. It helps you a heap, I know that. I had plenty of good times all right at banquets and short courses. I think I am going to be a farmer and want to take an agricultural education. The only way to win is to stick to it. I advise all farm boys to join the club."

These were the words that the visiting club leaders got from Bob Stevenson, of Fairfield County, while in that county recently organizing club work for the year. And the young man signed up for membership in 1924. He has been in club work for three years and is not only willing to try another year, but is unwilling to stay out of club work. Bob has won a state prize each year he has been a club boy.

Counting the prizes won, he has made a profit of around five hundred dollars in the three years. How did he do it? At the beginning he purchased a purebred Poland-China gilt and has raised five litters of pigs. The sow has farrowed a total of 51 pigs or an average of 10 to the litter.

But another reason explains why young Stevenson has made this good record, he developed his pigs on alfalfa. The sow and her litters have had the run of a nice alfalfa patch each year.

Bob's father is a profound believer in club work, and so is Mrs. Stevenson. The father says, "Club work gives the boy interest in farm work, causes him to figure the cost and to learn of the details. It gives him a line of thought that he would never get if he were not a club boy. It throws him in touch with new ideas and with people. Club work is helpful in contact with other boys. The competition is a good thing. The fact that prizes are offered stimulates interest and makes them think as they would not otherwise do."

County Agent R. H. Lemmon is proud of the good work which the Stevenson folks have done, and they are proud of the work that Mr. Lemmon has done. Therefore, we see that club work is a mutually helpful thing,—it benefits the boys and assists the county agent in carrying out his plans for developing the agriculture and farm life of the county.

GLEE CLUB MAKES TRIP TO SENECA

Members of Club Are Splendidly Treated By Seneca Folk—Concert Attended by Large Audience—Dance Is Given By High School Girls In Honor Of The Club

The Glee Club had a very enjoyable trip to Seneca Tuesday. This trip was sponsored by the Junior Class of Seneca High School and everybody reports a very successful trip.

The people of Seneca came after the men Tuesday afternoon and carried them up through the country. They were entertained in the homes and the members of the Glee Club were enthusiastic of the way in which they were treated.

A good crowd was in attendance at the performance and all the numbers were greatly appreciated and encored.

After the Glee Club performance the girls of the High School gave a dance in honor of the members of the Glee Club. The Glee Club orchestra played for this dance. It was greatly appreciated by all the boys who attended and all say they had a very pleasant evening. After the dance the people of the town brought the members of the Glee Club back through the country.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET BEST IN HISTORY

means express to their departing brothers, their true feeling of esteem and admiration, the Junior-Senior banquet and dance has been made an annual occasion.

For several months, plans and preparations have been under way for making the 24-25 festivities the best that have ever taken place at this institution; and none of these arrangements failed to accomplish their purpose. The decorations were the most attractive that ever served to hide the rough walls of our dining hall, the menu was a perfect and all articles were delightfully and artistically prepared, and systematically served.

The decorative scheme was done in crepe paper, the class colors of the Junior and Senior classes were maintained thru-out. The entire ceiling was hidden by the expertly arranged decorations, the walls were nicely set off by banners and vari-colored dragons, the long tables, which extended the entire length of the banquet hall, were beautifully ornamented with an assortment of colors and figures, among which miniature tigers and cupids added greatly to the ornamental effect.

There are two individuals whose untiring efforts were major assets to the success of our banquet, those two persons are Mrs. Middleton and Capt. Holcombe—the greatest of these is Holcombe. To "Mother Mid" we are indebted for the beautiful manner in which the hall was decorated. Without her aid and advice we would have been at a loss. Not only did Capt. Holcombe give freely of his time, but he likewise went to unlimited trouble and personal expense to provide us with the best eats and service that could be had. It is not generally known, but this jolly "little" fellow worked like a Trojan to help make that banquet the successful occasion that we so thoroly enjoyed.

We happen to know of several trips he made to Greenville and other near-by towns at his own personal expense for the purpose of purchasing various articles for that occasion. Mr. Holcombe is deserving of our undivided appreciation for his many services to us, and we hereby wish to extend to him every appropriate courtesy in that connection.

The after dinner program, like the skirt of McSween fame, was attractive by its shortness. Those contributing to this phase of the entertainment were: Messrs. W. F. Covin, E. H. Hall, President S. B. Earle, Colonel Madison Pearson, Rev. Mr. McSween, and Dr. D. W. Daniel and Dr. Calhoun in an amusing dialogue. J. M. L.

FURMAN ANNEXES

GAME FROM TIGERS

After the three hits of Strickland, Salley, and Cox in that inning, Minnick was called from the box and replaced by Drummond. Clemson was unable to get more than one hit in any one inning off his delivery, and consequently failed to score any more.

The Hornets tied up the count in the fifth. Drummond opened the inning with a triple to center, and he crossed the plate later on a passed ball. Asbill was hit by a pitched ball, Galloway singled, and both crossed the plate to tie the count when Herlong singled. In the next inning Brasington hit over second, and scored on Carter's two-bagger. Carter himself came in when a throw to cut him off at third was missed. The final scoring was in the ninth. McGee was safe on a grounder errored by Zeigler. He scored when Herlong hit safely to left, Herlong going to second on the throw-in and scoring on Brodie's hit to left.

Clemson, in a ninth-inning attempt to put across some runs, sent Pat Harmon in as a pinch-hitter after the first two men went out on grounders to the infield. Pat did his work nobly with a triple to the right of center field, but he died on third when the last man flied to right field.

Despite a few miscues, there was some nifty fielding seen in the game. Strickland put out all he had to get a high foul fly behind the Furman bench. Carter made some nice catches in center field, and George Cox played a jam-up game at short, fielding some hot chances in pretty fashion. For Furman the infield played a classy brand of ball. Carter, the second-baseman stabbed a drive from the bat of Zeigler which looked like a certain hit, and together with Bivins and Galloway he pulled the only double play of the game.

ANDERSON FORGES AHEAD

On Saturday, April 5, County Agent S. M. Byars, of Anderson, held a very successful meeting of his cotton club boys. Some seventy-five youngsters gathered at the Chamber of Commerce, in spite of very inclement weather, and enjoyed a meeting full of "pep" and enthusiasm. It was encouraging to see the parents of the club members come along with their sons. There were probably half as many parents present as clubsters.

Mr. Byars is featuring the cotton club this year, his idea being to teach the junior farmers valuable information about weevil control and general productivity.

The Bank of Anderson is taking keen interest in developing the cotton club work, because of their faith in the youth of the county and because they believe the program is full of opportunity for starting the young farmers on the right track in farming under boll weevil conditions.

There are more than one hundred cotton club members in Anderson County this year. The boys are using pure seed. If they should average three-quarters of a bale to the acre this would mean around seventy-five bales of excellent seed distributed throughout the county. The resulting advantage would be outstanding.

More and more the people are realizing that the future success of farming rests with the boys of today, who will till the soil of tomorrow better than their elders, because of better training in youth and better advantages in general. Anderson is an example. Other counties are doing the same with their youth.

"In the little acorn is wrapped the forest, in the little brook, the sea." In the little boys of today is wrapped the future of our farming. What it will be depends upon the vision and foresight instilled in them. They are a sturdy bunch, and Anderson, along with the other counties, is forging ahead with the youngsters.

TRACK MEN LEAVE FOR CONFERENCE MEET

Track Men To Go To Montgomery—Roy, Hall, Robinson, Smith, And One Other To Represent Clemson—Chandler Unable To Go—Many Colleges Entered.

Clemson's track team, fresh from their overwhelming victory of the South Carolina title, will close their season Friday and Saturday at the Southern Conference meet in Montgomery. The full squad will not make the trip to the big meet, but five of the leading lights of the squad will represent Clemson. Five men will go to Montgomery, and the Tigers will enter the 220, 440, 880, high jump, broad jump, and mile relay race.

The men who will go are Wallace Roy, Elliot Hall, Charlie Robinson, Lewis Smith, and a fifth man yet to be selected by Coach Reed. The fifth member of the team will probably be either Mace or Johnson, with Verdery and Shannon also having a try at the position.

Wallace Roy, the newly developed star who broke the Clemson College and state records in the 440 last week, will run in that race at Montgomery and should stand an excellent chance of winning it. He will also run a quarter on the relay team.

Elliot Hall, high point scorer of the State meet last week, will enter the high jump and the broad jump. He should place high. Last summer at Camp McClellan he won the high jump there from the other college athletes in the R. O. T. C. camp, and he has been going fine this spring.

Charlie Robinson, getting better and better as a sprinter, will run in the 220 and the relay. Lewis Smith will run the half mile, his chief event, and either the 440 or the relay. The fifth man to be selected for the trip will round out the relay team, and may possibly enter some other event also.

On account of his sickness all during this spring Jack Chandler, who last year was the best hundredyard man in the South, has been unable to do much running, and he will not make the trip to Montgomery. Coach Reed and all Clemson men are hoping that Jack will be back in the best of health next spring so that in his last year he can sprint to new laurels for himself and for Clemson.

Dispatches from Montgomery state that virtually all of the 22 members of the Southern Conference will enter their track teams in the big meet at Cramton Bowl. All arrangements are complete to run things off in big style. Major John L. Griffith, Commissioner of athletics of the Western Conference, will be present as honorary referee.

One report from Montgomery states that in considering the possible winners, Clemson is being considered by the experts as one of the possible dark horses of the meet. With such a small team entered it is not likely that the Tigers will come first, but they should certainly place high in the list of scores.

The colleges entered in the big meet are from every section of Dixie, from Maryland to Louisiana. The list includes: Mississippi A. & M., last year's winner, Louisiana State University, Sewanee, Vanderbilt, Georgia Tech, Maryland, Alabama, Georgia, Auburn, Florida, Mississippi, Tulane, Kentucky, Virginia, V. M. I., V. P. I., Washington & Lee, and Tennessee.

CONFERENCE IS HELD FOR ALL METHODIST

Wiggins Represents Clemson's Church At Conference—Many Rules Concerning Welfare Of Church Are Discussed—Unification Is Debated Both Pro and Con—Many Good Points Obtained By Clemson Representative At Meeting

I had the pleasure of representing the Methodist students of Clemson at the Methodist Students Convention which convened at Louisville Ky. April 18-20. At this convention was gathered about seven hundred students representing some thing like one hundred and twenty Colleges of the United States.

The Methodist Students Conference grew out of the Indianapolis Conference which met during the Christmas holidays. We discussed the same questions that they did, only from a Methodist's view point.

Bishop John Moore of Dallas, Texas, and Bishop F. J. McConnell of Pittsburg Pa. opened the conference with talks on Methodisms. They reminded us of the fact that we are now molding ourselves for the kind of men we will be—that the Methodism that we live at school will be the Methodisms that we will finally live. So with this in mind, we must live such lives now that our pass will be great enough for us to carry on the work which the men who have gone on before us have established against such great odds.

After these two talks the convention was mostly discussions by the students on the many important topics or I should say questions that were brought up.

The questions of doing away entirely or either modifying the amusement clause in our Church discipline was brought up. This brought up a hot debate. The reason for wanting to do away with it was based on the fact that so many young people stay out of the church just because they don't want to join the church and then break the rule after joining it. A few were against making such drastic moves as this. They claimed that if the news papers learned of this action that we were about to make, that headlines to the effect that the Methodist church favors all worldly pleasures could be seen the next morning. The argument ended when Bishops Moore and McConnell were called on for aid. Bishop Moore informed us that the Southern Methodist discipline does not have any such clause. Bishop McConnell said that there is such a clause in the discipline of the Northern Methodist church, but that the people of the church usually let their conscience be their guide in such matters. With this enlightenment on the questions, the northern Methodist students put themselves on record as favoring the doing away with this clause in their discipline.

During the conference we brought up the question of Unification. Those students who live in bordering states, and states where tourist come and build their own church, told us of the trouble that they are having. In a town in Oklahoma where both the Southern and Northern Methodist church exist, the Northern Methodists have just completed a $65,000 church and the Southern Methodist have begun building a new $150,000 church. They claim that not only in church building is this keen rivalry shown, but that it is predominant in all lines of church work. Now we know that rivalry to a certain degree is a good thing, but when it is carried so far that it defeats the purpose which we are working for, it is time for something to be done. When the question of whether or not we were in favor of Unification was put before the convention, we voted unanimously that we were in favor of it.

Another interesting discussion was that on race. The two speakers on that subject were; Mrs Luke Johnson of Atlanta, Ga., and Miss Myrtle Forsyth of Columbia College, N. Y. Both of these talks were interesting. Mrs Johnson talked on the Negro question. She told what progress the negro has made against such great odds, what the people are doing to help the conditions of the negro, and how appreciative the negro is of what is being done for him. In her talk she made this statement, "Colored People do not want to be white, they want the things which being white make possible." Miss Forsyth told us of the problems that they confront in New York with the immigrants and how they meet those problems. After hearing those talks the convention pledged themselves to form clubs in their different colleges to help better the race conditions on their campuses. As we do not have any race problems here this does not affect us.

Probably the most hotly debated question was that of War. It seemed that a group of Pacifists had gathered there to try with their clever bit of diplomacy to run the convention. A member of this group brought up resolutions to the effect that, we as the representatives of the Methodist students of America, put our selves on records as saying that we are opposed to War, and that we will not support any future War. Of course a hot debate ensued. I was surprised to see that some of the students upheld these resolutions, but I must say that I think that they were not fully aware of the absurdity of the resolutions, for after it had been debated on for about two hours the small group of Pacifists had no supporters. When the resolutions was put before the convention it was voted down.

A system was planned by which these conventions can be carried on indefinitely. The time and place of the next one has not been announced, but if any of you get a chance to go to the next one be sure to go, for it is well worth your time.

CLASS OF 1902 MAY HOLD SPECIAL REUNION

Mr. S. Mortimer Ward, Jr., '02 of New York City writes that a number of his classmates expressed a desire at their last reunion to hold another meeting of the class at the college within a comparatively few years rather than wait until the regularly allotted time. An invitation has been extended to the class to come back to their Alma Mater in June 1924 and see their old classmates, Jim Lynah, receive his diploma. Those of us here at the college extend to these old men a hearty welcome because it is good to see them back and to know that their love and interest for their Alma Mater is as deep as ever.

Mr. James Lynah, familiarly known as "Jim" Lynah, will come back to Clemson in June after a period of twenty-two years and will receive his diploma. Mr. Lynah was a member of the class of 1902 and remained at Clemson until about the middle of his senior year when he went to Cornell University, from which institution he later graduated with the degrees of M. E. and E. E. Two faculty members, namely, the late Prof. Morrison, and the late Dr. Riggs, were instrumental in having a diploma awarded Mr. Lynah.

The name of Jim Lynah is familiar to the old football men as he was one of the best ends in the South during his day. He made the varsity football team at Cornell with ease and his name was often featured in the write-ups of the Cornell team. During his senior year at Cornell he was Captain of the football team and continued to lead his team in the same clear headed, courageous way that he played for Clemson in her early football days.

After graduating from Cornell Mr. Lynah took a position with the DuPont Company in the Black Powder Department. Soon after he started work with the company an explosion in one of the plants gave him the first opportunity to demonstrate his executive ability. Some of the ideas which had been drilled into him on the football field were evidently put into play in this emergency and he was rewarded by the company and soon placed in their Purchasing Department in Wilmington, Del. Later he was promoted to the superintendency of the first artificial leather plant acquired by the DuPont Company.

Shortly after the war broke out his company selected him as a good organizer and able executive to take charge of a plant which they had never been able to bring up to its normal rated production. After three months under Mr. Lynah the plant was turning out powder well worth its rated capacity. At the close of the war when the company found it necessary to greatly retrench Mr. Lynah decided to resign and go into business for himself. The DuPont Company urged him to remain with them until they could find an opening acceptable to him and continued his salary but relieved him of active duties. He was later sent abroad to study the production of artificial silk. Upon returning home he found that the company was not yet ready to use him actively in this line of work and he for the second time resigned his position. After a year or two in business for himself he again felt the call of big business and accepted a position with the General Motors Company in which some of the higher DuPont officials are connected.

At present Mr. Lynah is Assistant Director of Purchases and Secretary of the General Purchasing Committee of the General Motors Company.

NEWBERRY FRESHMEN FALL BEFORE CUBS

Cubs Take Indians In Camp To The Tune of 4 to 2—Milling Has Perfect Day At Bat—Alexander Hurls Good Game—Haley, Pitching For Newberry, Hits Homer

The Clemson Freshman won a well deserved game from the Newberry "Rats" Friday, May 2nd. Sudduth Alexander, a Greenville boy, pitched a very creditable game. In the fourth inning he contributed one of the three hits that together with an error, a base on balls, and a fielder's choice gave the Clemson Freshman four runs and the game. Alexander struck out a total of six men and only gave three men bases on balls.

"Shine" Milling took the batting laurels by securing two singles, one two-bagger, and a base on a fielder's choice out of four trips to the plate. Haley, pitching for Newberry drove out two singles and a home run in four tries. Haley also struck out seven batters and only "walked" four men.

Score by innings.

HENRY CAVENDISH

1731-1810

English chemist and physicist, of whom Biot said, "He was the richest of the learned and the most learned of the rich. His last great achievement was his famous experiment to determine the density of the earth."

He first made water from gases

Henry Cavendish, an eccentric millionaire recluse, who devoted his life to research, was the discoverer of the H and the O in H<sub>2</sub>O. In fact he first told the Royal Society of the existence of hydrogen.

He found what water was by making it himself, and so became one of the first of the synthetic chemists.

Cavendish concluded that the atmosphere contained elements then unknown. His conclusion has been verified by the discovery of argon and other gases.

The Research Laboratories of the General Electric Company have found a use for argon in developing lamps hundreds of times brighter than the guttering candles which lighted Cavendish's laboratory.

In this age of electricity the General Electric Company has blazed the trail of electrical progress. You will find its monogram on the giant generators used by lighting companies; and even on the lamps and little motors that mean so much in the home. It is a symbol of useful service.

I wanted to write a poem and while I did I wanted to put my mind into it, but I was skeered if I put my mind into it that it would be blank verse. Anyway, Pop says I'm very versatile. I told him I flunked on math last year but he said that's nothing. I and men and Pop are great friends. He's a bank director, he stands at the door and tells the people where to go. I told Pop that the Junior-Senior was great 'cause there were three kinds of decorations; Firstly the paper decorations, then the eats, then the best decorations of all you know that some had on red, white, and blue dresses and the Kadets just rallied 'round the flag. It was indeed a pleasure to have so many skirts on our campus. Wasn't it Kadets? The little birds would chirp their sweetest melodies while flitting from bush to bush, and back to the bushes again. Now we have got to begin to get ready to commence at commencement and it won't be long 'fore the abundance of wit and wisdom, better known as the Senior class, shall depart from our midst. Oh, yes I forgot all about that three minute quiz for Dr. Burr tomorrow so I'll hang my clothes on this line. Yours 'till "Horse" Mullins and Myself win a beauty prize

THE BALDHEAD ROW

ANOTHER STATE PENNANT was lifted to the top of the Tiger-town flag-staff when the swift runners of Coach Reed's track team walked away with the state meet in Columbia on Saturday. Accustomed to taking first place in this meet with little effort, but expecting and preparing for sterner opposition this year, the Tigers went to the capital city ready to fight hard for the victory which they were determined to win. But again the opposition was not worthy of the Jungaleers' steel, and they scored more points than all other teams together, taking first in every event with a single exception, the discus throw, which was won by Ezell of Furman.

THIS MAKES the second South Carolina title in a major sport which Clemson has brought home this collegiate year. Last fall when Coach "Bud" Saunder's gallant eleven set out by means of the craps-shooter's shift and other brilliant football to bring the gridiron championship to the Jungle lair, they all said over the state that it couldn't be done. But the Tigers won the smaller games with ease, and defeated the major opponents, Carolina and Furman, very decisively, although the scores were close. And now the speedy tracksters have tacked another gonfalon to the mast, and Clemson is supreme for this year in two of the four major sports, including football, the biggest of all.

WALLACE ROY has been the find of the season in the track line. The Columbia lad turned out for this sport this spring for the first time since his high school days when he was a star in the shop put at the state high school meet. Developing practically overnight into a star of the first water, he is now one of the bright lights of the team, and is rapidly getting to be one of the mainstays.

A STATE RECORD and a Clemson College record simultaneously fell before his onslaught at the Palmetto State meet. Running the 440 yard dash, the event which has become his best bet and at which he has far surpassed all the other candidates at Clemson, he ran the distance in 51 1-5 seconds, setting a new state mark 2 4-5 seconds faster than the old. This record also breaks by a 2-5 of a second margin the old Clemson record of 51 3-5 made by Epps in 1911.

"THE STATE", of Columbia, carries the following paragraph in its write-up of the track meet: "Considerable argument was had over the time of the 440 yard dash. Some seemed to think that the state record had not been broken and that the timekeeper's watches were wrong. To the eye the dash around the track did not seem to be any too fast, but the watches were supposed to be of the standard kind, and as a result of their ticking the time of the quarter mile will go down as a record for Roy of Clemson."

SUCH a statement is utterly absurd. To say that there was argument over a record simply because the race did not seem as fast to the eye as the time registered by the official timers is ridiculous. The timers at such a meet are always competent, experienced officials, equipped with watches of standard make, known to be trustworthy. There are several timers, each with a different watch; and if the watches disagree, the time of the slowest is taken as the official in order to avoid any doubt a record being too fast. If the time was clocked by only one timer, it might be different, for his watch might go wrong accidentally. But when a race is timed by good officials in the careful manner described above, it is foolish to question their results just because the race did not appear that fast.

HUMAN OBSERVATION is always more or less faulty. Very rarely will two eye-witnesses to a happening see it in exactly the same way. Wallace Roy set his record. The officials, who were in the position to know, say that he did. Consequently there could be no possible reason for such an ill-considered statement, which might tend to detract from the rightfully earned glory of the Tiger quarter-mile. The record is his, and no thinking person could attach the slightest weight to the allegation in question.

CRAMTON BOWL in Montgomery is the goal of the track team this week. A pick crew of five men (Wallace Roy, Elliot Hall, Lewis Smith, Charlie Robinson, and another to be chosen) will bear the Purple and Gold standard of Clemson to the big championships at which practically all the schools of the Southern Conference will have their best men.

ELLIOT HALL, who was the high scorer of the state meet, stands in an excellent way to win the high jump at the big doings in the Alabama capital. Steadily his jumping has improved until he is one of the best in this section. This column predicts that he will be at the top or very close to it in Cramton Bowl. He also should be well in the broad jump.

MINNICK, Furman pitcher who was such a sensation on the Freshmen nine last year, got rough treatment at the hands of the Tiger hitter on last Saturday. Jumping on him the first inning for three hits, Clemson quickly maltreated his delivery to such an extent that Billy Laval beckoned him back to the bench after he had pitched to only four Tigers, three of whom had hit safely. Drummond took his place, and his success was much better, for the Jungaleers could not score off him.

TWO long three-base clouts went out from the Tiger bats in this game. George Cox landed on the first in the opening inning, driving in two runs. Pat Harmon did the same stunt in the final frame, but unfortunately he was left on third without scoring.

ERSKINE was the victim of the Tiger nine on Monday afternoon, in one of the best games of this season. Pat Harmon proved his ability to pitch, by going the complete nine-inning route, allowing only two hits, and fanning eight Seceders. Bill Murr, captain and leading hitter of the team, got one of the longest hits of the year, when he handed one high on the right-field bank for three bases.

THIS CLOSED the home season of the varsity. They wind up the year with a trip as follows:

MAY 7. Erskine at Due West.
May 8. P. C. at Laurens.
May 9. Newberry at Newberry.
May 10. South Carolina at Columbia.
May 12. Citadel at Anderson.

THE RATS play a three-game series at home this week and then drop the final curtain Saturday at Due West. Their remaining schedule is as follows:

May 7. North Georgia Aggies on Riggs Field.
May 8. North Georgia Aggies on Riggs Field.
May 9. Georgia Tech Freshmen on Riggs Field.
May 10. Erskine Freshmen at Due West.

ALL SPORTS close their seasons this week, with the single exception of the baseball game to be played in Anderson on Monday. The Varsity ball tossers take their final trip as described above, returning to this neck of the woods for their final contest Monday. The rats wind up on Saturday. The track team finishes up in Montgomery at the Southern Conference meet. And the tennis team closes its season with the Southern Collegiate tournament in Atlanta this week. Thus endeth the spring season.

CAPTAIN BILL MURR is still leading the Clemson batters. If he continues at the present rate he is likely to be on top of the list at the close. Following is a list of the six leading hitters, who have played in at least a third of the games:

Murr	349
Harmon	275
Melton	234
Keel	217
Zeigler	211
Cox	205

Complete batting figures, for all players who have played in any games at all, are printed elsewhere in this issue. The team is batting .210 up to date.

COACH STEGEMAN OF GEORGIA SPEAKS

I have attended but one Students' Conference at Blue Ridge, but I still consider those ten days as ten of the most valuable I have ever spent. The combination of beautiful scenery and inspiring friends is one that can be found in very few places in this world. The scenery is as fine as I have seen this side of the Rockies and the people representing their institutions seem to be the pick of each college. Being in charge of the athletic activity of the Conference I was thrown into quite intimate contact with nearly every student there. The spirit of rivalry in all the athletic events and leagues and tournaments was as keen as I have seen anywhere. The athletic traditions of every college in the South were reflected very clearly in the actions of the contestants.

The athletic activities, however, are only incidental to the main program; they are purely recreational. I am certain that a student can receive more stimulus from the classes, lectures and programs at Blue Ridge in ten days than from many a month of academic work under less inspiring conditions. If a student who has graduated seeks an inspiration for his life's work, or if an undergraduate seeks stimulus for further study, I recommend a trip to Blue Ridge at the time of the Students' Conference. I have never been more enthusiastic about any spot in my life.

new state record and incidentally a new Clemson College record for the 440-yard run. He stepped off the quarter in 51 1-5 seconds, this time being 2 4-5 seconds faster than the previous state meet record. It beats by a 2-5 of a second margins the old Clemson record set by Epps in 1911.

Elliot Hall became the highest scoring individual in the meet as he continued on his winning way in the jumps and also placed in the javelin throw. His total was thirteen counters. Charlie Robinson who keeps on adding track laurels to his myriad football honors, and "Cap" Mace, the Tiger hurdler, came next in the scoring with ten counters each. Charlie took first in both the hundred and the two-twenty dashes, while "Cap" won both the low and the high hurdle races.

In spite of the easy manner which Clemson walked off with the victory the meet was interesting throughout, and the fight for second place was keen. The discus throw was the only event of the meet which Clemson did not win, first place going to Ezell of Furman. Brock and Brice, of Carolina, were second and third, while Gary Finklea, the Tiger representative, took fourth. "Fink" made up for this loss however by taking first in the shot put, ahead of Ezell who won the discus.

Preliminary heats were necessary in the hundred and two-twenty dashes. Robinson and Roy, both of Clemson won the two heats of the hundred, and they placed first and second, respectively in the final. Robinson and Lewis Smith were the Tigers getting to the final of the two-twenty and they also got first and second.

Much time was consumed in deciding the pole vault. A number of bars were broken, and the event was delayed until more sticks could be secured. Cartee of Clemson won the event.

The Columbia papers praised R. Sease for the manner in which he stepped away from the field in the mile run. He went to the front immediately after the start and stuck to his place. "King" Sease also kept up the honor of the family by winning the two-mile.

Clemson's tracksters will close their season this week at the Southern Conference meet to be held at Crampton Bowl in Montgomery on Friday and Saturday.

WHAT THE PRESIDENT OF ALABAMA SAYS

"The Blue Ridge Conference is one of outstanding and far reaching value to the religious life of our colleges and through them to the South and to the nation. The value of the conference to the individual who attends is of the utmost importance. I wish we might send a hundred representatives from the University of Alabama."—George H. Denny, President.

She (at dinner table)—"How do you like my new dress?"

He—"I haven't had time to look under the table yet."

—Yale Record

"Don't be afraid of him. He is as gentle as a woman."

"Er—thanks. I guess I won't ride this morning."—Yale Record.
